2. Promotional Period: The designated time frame during which a Client may use a special and individually assigned promo code to apply for the Insurance Program benefits on their trading account.

3. Trading Period: The time frame during which the Client can execute and close trades eligible for insurance coverage. The trading period is defined by the promotion and may conclude at any time, as outlined in the terms of the promo code or promotional offer.

4. Refund Period: The timeframe within which eligible refunds under the Insurance Program are processed and credited to the Client's account. The Refund Period begins after the conclusion of the Promotional Period and is subject to the terms outlined in the promotional offer.

2. OBJECTIVE

The Insurance Program aims to provide clients with bonuses for their trading activity during the promotional period. This initiative is designed to offer clients a risk cushion and enhance their trading experience.

3. INFORMATION EXCHANGE

3.1 The Insurance Program is open to all clients with an active trading account and is accessible via a special promo code. Each promotional code includes a specified number of insured trades. Insured trades cover both profitable and loss trades conducted during the promotional period. To qualify, trades must be executed and completed within the promotion's timeframe.

3.2. To participate, clients must:

- Make a new deposit into their trading account during the promotional period.
- Avoid transferring funds between trading accounts to qualify.
- Submit a participation request and complete the required form.

3.3. Transfers from the Client's own trading account, wallet-to-wallet crypto transfers, and internal transfers from other users are not eligible to activate the promotion.

4. BONUS STRUCTURE

4.1. The number of trades covered under the insurance (both profitable and losing trades) will be specified for each promo code. Refunds apply for specified number and amount of first closed negative trades during the promotional period and will be provided either as credit (bonus) or as balance (funds available for the client) to the trading account, as outlined in the specific terms of the promo code.

4.2. Each promotional code defines a maximum insured amount per trade. Losses exceeding this amount will not be covered. For example, if a Client incurs a $100 loss on a trade and the insured amount is $10 per trade, only $10 will be reimbursed.

4.3. The insurance funds will be credited during 72 hours after the conclusion of the promotional period.

5. REQUIREMENTS

5.1. Clients must fulfill the following conditions to qualify for the Insurance Program:

- Make a new deposit into the trading account (if applicable).
- Maintain trading activity during the promotional period.

5.2. Clients must not withdraw funds from their trading account during the promotional period. Any withdrawal will render the client ineligible for the promo reclaim fund.

5.3 Clients must not have any other active bonus credits/promotions on the trading account they are submitting for the Insurance Program.

5.4 Clients can participate in the program with only one of their trading accounts.

6. LIMITATIONS

6.1. The promotion is non-transferable and cannot be converted into cash or withdrawn immediately.

6.2. The bonus will only be credited to accounts that remain compliant with the deposit and trading conditions throughout the promotional period.

7. ABUSE OF THE PROGRAM

7.1. The company reserves the right to investigate and disqualify any client suspected of abusing the Insurance Program, including but not limited to:

- Manipulating trades or accounts to exploit the bonus.
- Engaging in fraudulent or deceptive practices.

7.2. In cases where abuse is confirmed, the company reserves the right to withhold, revoke, or cancel the bonus without prior notice.

8. TIMEFRAME
